

Dr. Alethea Hill, PhD, ACNP-BC

Dr. Hill is an assistant Professor and board certified Acute Care Nurse Practitioner at the University of South Alabama College of Nursing. She received her Bachelor of Science and Masters of Science in Nursing from the University of South Alabama and the Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Alabama at Birmingham. She has developed and taught gender studies courses, focusing on Minority women's health and health disparities. She has also engaged in sex-specific research relevant to cardiovascular disease among minority women. Currently, Dr. Hill provides care to underserved/uninsured minority women in a tertiary setting in the community, managing acute exacerbation's of chronic disease processes. She has a passion for the health of women and the areas of risk prediction, diabetes, obesity and cardiovascular risk in the state of Alabama. Her passion extends to educating and empowering communities to make better choices so that change can occur.